- xiv 'Remote Learning' is where the pupil and/or the educator are not physically present in a traditional classroom environment. Information is relayed through technology, such as online classrooms (Google classroom for Secondary or Microsoft Teams for Primary) and online assessments. This also includes where a class, group or small number of pupils need to self-isolate (due to COVID-19), or there are local restrictions requiring pupils to remain at home. Schools will ensure they have the capacity to offer immediate remote education.
Schools provide the opportunity for pupils/ students and teachers to remain connected and engaged with the content while working from their homes. Opportunities for remote learning are typically linked to emergency situations that pose a threat to student safety. The learning is dependent on preparedness, technology tools, or overall pupil support infrastructure. It may mean that a paper based remote learning packs are provided where there is no access to technology tools.

1. Scope

At The Romero Catholic Academy, we understand the need to continually deliver high quality education, including during periods of remote working – whether for an individual pupil, class, year group or school. We recognise the importance of maintaining high expectations in all areas of school life and ensuring that all pupils have access to the learning resources and support they need to succeed. We also recognise that we need to support the journey of faith for our community in any period of remote working.

Through the implementation of this policy, we aim to address the key concerns associated with remote working, such as online safety, access to educational resources, data protection, and safeguarding.

The scope of this policy extends to:

- Minimise the disruption to pupils' education and the delivery of the curriculum.
- Ensure provision is in place so that all pupils have access to high quality learning resources and there is a smooth transition to a well planned, sequenced curriculum.
- Protect pupils from the risks associated with using devices connected to the internet.
- Ensure staff, parent, and pupil data remains secure and is not lost or misused.
- Ensure robust safeguarding measures continue to be in effect during the period of remote learning.
- Ensure all pupils have the provision they need to complete their work to the best of their ability, and to remain happy, healthy, and supported during periods of remote learning.
- Ensure staff are trained, confident and ready to move to remote working both digital and paper based
- Ensure pastoral needs for pupils during remote working.
- Ensure Parish and Governance links continue to provide faith support.

2. Principles

We draw our key principles from the EEF Research document on Remote Learning (right)

1. Teaching quality is more important than how lessons are delivered

- Pupils can learn through remote teaching. Ensuring the elements of effective teaching are present – for example clear explanations, scaffolding and feedback – is more important than how or when they are provided. There was no clear difference between teaching in real time (“synchronous teaching”) and alternatives (“asynchronous teaching”).
- For example, teachers might explain a new idea live or in a pre-recorded video. But what matters most is whether the explanation builds clearly on pupils’ prior learning or how pupils’ understanding is subsequently assessed.

2. Ensuring access to technology is key, particularly for disadvantaged pupils

- Almost all remote learning uses digital technology, typically requiring access to both computers and the internet. Many reviews identify lack of technology as a barrier to successful remote instruction. It is important that support is provided to ensure that disadvantaged pupils – who are more likely to face these barriers – have access to technology.
- In addition to providing access to technology, ensuring that teachers and pupils are provided with support and guidance to use specific platforms is essential, particularly if new forms of technology are being implemented.

3. Peer interactions can provide motivation and improve learning outcomes

- Multiple reviews highlight the importance of peer interaction during remote learning, as a way to motivate pupils and improve outcomes. Across the studies reviewed, a range of strategies to support peer interaction were explored, including peer marking and feedback, sharing models of good work, and opportunities for live discussions of content.
- The value of collaborative approaches was emphasised in many reviews, although notably many studies involved older learners. Different approaches to peer interaction are likely to be better suited to different age groups.
- TRCA where appropriate will facilitate meaningful and safe interactions between pupils

4. Supporting pupils to work independently can improve learning outcomes

- Pupils learning at home will often need to work independently. Multiple reviews identify the value of strategies that help pupils work independently with success.
- For example, prompting pupils to reflect on their work or to consider the strategies they will use if they get stuck have been highlighted as valuable. Wider evidence related to metacognition and self-regulation suggests that disadvantaged pupils are likely to particularly benefit from explicit support to help them work independently, for example, by providing checklists or daily plans.

5. Different approaches to remote learning suit different tasks and types of content

- Approaches to remote learning vary widely and have different strengths and weaknesses. Teachers should be supported to consider which approaches are best suited to the content they are teaching and the age of their pupils.
- For example, games for learning were found to have a high impact on vocabulary learning in foreign languages, but there is less evidence related to their use in other subjects. Likewise, using technology to support retrieval practice and self-quizzing can help pupils retain key ideas and knowledge, but is not a replacement for other forms of assessment.

- Phone calls made to vulnerable pupils will be made using school phones where possible.
- The DSL will arrange for regular contact with vulnerable pupils once per week at minimum, with additional contact, including home visits, arranged where required.
- All contact with vulnerable pupils will be recorded on paper and suitably stored in line with the Records Management Policy.

- Screen break frequency will be adjusted to five minutes every hour for younger pupils or pupils with medical conditions who require more frequent screen breaks.
- During Remote Learning pupils will be encouraged to ensure there are no liquids near IT equipment and ensure cables are not trailing to avoid trips or falls
- All equipment provided by the academy will be PAT tested and logged centrally. If there are any problems with academy IT equipment such as loose wires, please email itteam@romeromac.com

Billingtons have advised that if devices are issued to home, IT must ensure they are PAT tested and logged with a photograph of the equipment condition when issuing to the pupil. This is simply to cover us for any H&S related issues which may arise at home.

Billingtons have confirmed there is no legislation for pupils and parents to report incidents or near misses

13. School Day- suggested model

The Department for Education set out expectations for Remote education which are detailed here.

Primary provision

At Primary school, pupils could follow the following model for remote learning by 9:00am and cease their remote learning at 3:15pm from Monday to Friday, with the exception of breaks and lunchtimes, as outlined below. This needs to be flexible as it will depend on access to live / recorded lesson and teaching activities. This will vary slightly from school to school and year group to year group. You will receive communication to detail the arrangements for the remote learning. The day may need to be shifted later or split depending on the needs of the family and the child. It also needs to be flexible to the age; a Year 6 child can sit for longer periods independently, compared to a Reception child who may need to have short bursts of learning spread out.

A suggested pattern in an ideal day for breaks and lunchtimes could be:

- Morning break will take place at 10:45am until 11:15am.
 - Lunchtime will take place between 12:00pm and 13:00pm.
 - Afternoon break will take place at 2:00pm until 2:15pm.
- Pupils are not expected to do schoolwork during the break and lunchtimes above or when they are flexibly planned around the family adaptations to remote learning.
 - Pupils with SEND or additional medical conditions who require more regular breaks, e.g. sensory breaks, are not expected to do schoolwork during their breaks.

- Pupils who are unwell are not expected to be present for remote working until they are well enough to do so.
- Parents will inform their child’s teacher / tutor or later than 8:30am if their child is unwell.
- The school will monitor absence and lateness in line with the TRCA Attendance and Exceptional Leave Policy.

Secondary Provision

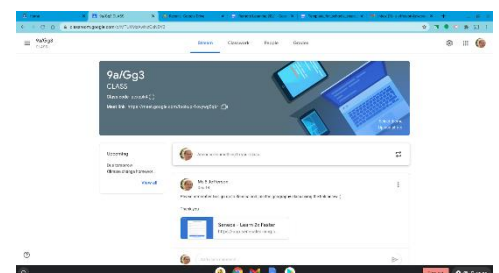

If students are being sent home to isolate they are expected to access lessons set in line with the curriculum being taught at school. It is expected that students will complete work as per the timetable set out below for their Key Stage.

As educators we appreciate the struggles of students trying to access a normal 5 hour day of lessons from home. After consideration we have devised a new blended curriculum for those students who have to access education from home. With this in mind we have reduced the hours of work each day but the expected standard of work is the same. Students are expected to check-in with their tutors each day between 9 - 9:20am to make sure they have access to the work being set and to let them know of any issues they may have.

Students are expected to complete the lessons set each day and submit work to their class teacher to show the notes and tasks completed each day. Staff will mark and comment where necessary so the students know how they are getting on and the lessons set will be in line with the work being done by the rest of the year group at school. Students also have the knowledge booklets for each subject and these will also be available electronically if needed. The knowledge booklets provide an overview of the content of topics being taught and are to be used as reading material alongside lessons being taught. These booklets will be available on the Website under the Parents/Students tab.

For a ‘live lesson’ KS3 students are expected to sign into the lesson via the google class ‘Meet Link’ as listed (see right) on the subject Google Classroom home page. Students will be registered by their teacher for ALL lessons online.

KS4 students will be sent an invitation via their Google Classroom subject pages for their lessons, as some classes might be taught together.

Remote teaching and study time each day

Tutor check-in each morning 9:00-9:20am through the link in the Form class on Google Classroom.

Key Stage 5 - Sixth Form

Post 16 students, that is Years 12 and 13, are expected to log into their existing timetable to access live lessons. Lesson links will be provided by their subject teachers either through email or Google Classroom. It is important that Post 16 students check their emails regularly and contact the Sixth Form Team directly or email virtuallearninghelp@cwcscoventry.co.uk for support if needed.

Remote learning

- Access to portal -all students have access to Google Classroom, where work will always be set. There may be links to other online platforms through which work is set such as GCSEPod, HegartyMaths or Seneca Learning. Any issues with logging in please contact: virtuallearninghelp@cwcscoventry.co.uk and we will get back to you as soon as possible.
- Students with no digital or online access at home- We recognise that some pupils may not have suitable online access at home. We take the following approaches to support those pupils to access remote education:
 - If students struggle to access online work platforms. Please contact virtuallearninghelp@cwcscoventry.co.uk and we will either send out workbooks for students to complete and return to class teachers on returning to school.
 - In some circumstances we may be able to offer devices to support working remotely and accessing online content.
- Approaches to remote learning - we use a combination of the following approaches to teach pupils remotely:
 - Students will be set working remotely via the subject classes in Google Classroom and all work completed at home should be submitted to the teacher for that subject so they can monitor work/notes being done.
 - Homework will continue to be set, backing up knowledge learnt in lessons. Lessons might also use other online platforms such as; HegartyMaths, GCSEPod, Seneca Learning or Oak Academy.

Engagement and feedback

- Students are expected to undertake four hours of work each day and submit notes and work completed to the subject teacher through Google Classroom after the lessons.
- Some lessons will be live and these will take place during the day when those lessons usually take place so students need to note timings of lessons and know their timetables or the Remote learning timetable. Form tutors will post the class timetables for ALL students in Years 7-9 on their Form Google Classroom pages for them to be aware of lessons each day and timings, this is also published on the school website.
- Students engagement will be monitored by subject teachers and any concerns will be passed onto the form tutor and Heads of Year who will contact parents as they need to.
- Feedback can take many forms and may not always mean extensive written comments for individual children. For example, whole-class feedback or quizzes marked automatically via digital platforms are also valid and effective methods, amongst many others. Our approach to feeding back on pupil work is as follows:
- Subject teachers will monitor and comment on work returned by students learning from home by the end of each week.
- Some platforms will automatically mark students' work and so comments may not be made on these styles of work set.

Additional support for pupils with particular needs

We recognise that some pupils, for example some pupils with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND), may not be able to access remote education without support from adults at home. We acknowledge the difficulties this may place on families, and we will work with parents and carers to support those pupils in the following ways:

- Any student with particular needs who is taken out of lessons for support work will have work set by the staff who provide them assistance through the Trinity classes in each Year group.
- If needed work will be sent home for these students and if they could try to complete worksheets set or access any online resources and if possible submit work through either back to the support staff or to the subject teachers through Google Classroom.

Remote education for self-isolating pupils

Where individual pupils need to self-isolate but the majority of their peer group remains in school, how remote education is provided will likely differ from the approach for whole groups. This is due to the challenges of teaching pupils both at home and in school. For many cases a hybrid lesson will occur where the teacher will allow access to key parts of the lesson through Google Classroom.

Students in Self Isolation

Students will be expected to sign in to live lessons through the week for certain subjects (see timetable earlier in the document) and submit work completed at home. They will still be expected to complete 4 hours of work per day and submit work by the end of the week that has been completed. It would be a good habit to get into to submit work completed after each lesson done. Any questions in relation to subjects and work being set should be directed via contact to usual teachers through Google Classroom.

14. Communication

Communication both to and from school is vital during a period of remote learning. The directive for DfE Remote Learning requires school to have 'daily contact' with each pupil. This is likely to be virtual in the majority of teaching to pupils across the schools.

- The school will communicate with parents via letter and the school or Romero website about remote learning arrangements as soon as possible.
- The school will ensure adequate channels of communication are arranged in the event of an emergency. This will be via Social Media and/ or Arbor (Secondary currently use Parent Mail)
- The Principal will ensure that SLT communicate with staff as soon as possible via email about any remote learning arrangements.
- Members of staff involved in remote teaching will ensure they have a working mobile device that is available to take phone calls during their agreed working hours.
 - The school understands that pupils learning remotely have the right to privacy out-of-hours and should be able to separate their school and home lives – communication is only permitted during school hours.
- Members of staff will have contact with their line manager once per week.
- As much as possible, all communication with pupils and their parents will take place within the school hours outlined in Section 14 (School Day).
- Pupils will have verbal contact with a member of teaching staff at least once per week

- Parents and pupils will inform the relevant member of staff as soon as possible if schoolwork cannot be completed.
- Issues with remote learning or data protection will be communicated to the pupils' teacher as soon as possible so they can investigate and hope to resolve the issue.
- The pupils' teacher will keep parents and pupils informed of any changes to the remote learning arrangements or the schoolwork set.
- The Principal will review the effectiveness of communication on a weekly basis and ensure measures are put in place to address gaps or weaknesses in communication.

15. Monitoring and Review

- The Board of Directors have delegated the implementation of this policy to the Academy Committee.
- This Policy will be reviewed by CC3 – Quality, Performance and Standards.
- Due to the nature of how Remote learning will evolve this will be a live policy.

Appendix 1 - Policy

Remote Learning During the Coronavirus (COVID-19) Pandemic

Within the ever-changing circumstances we are currently living through, we must be prepared for local lockdowns. In the event of a local lockdown, the school will implement provision for remote learning to ensure pupils never miss out on education. We will ensure that our curriculum is inclusive and accessible to all. This policy annex outlines how we will deliver remote education during the pandemic.

1. Legal framework

This policy has due regard to all relevant legislation, statutory and good practice guidance including, but not limited to, the following:

- DfE (2020) 'Safeguarding and remote education during coronavirus (COVID-19)'
- DfE (2020) 'Adapting teaching practice for remote education'
- DfE (2020) 'Guidance for full opening: schools'
- DfE (2020) 'Get help with technology during coronavirus (COVID-19)'
- DfE (2020) 'Get laptops and tablets for children who cannot attend school due to coronavirus (COVID-19)'
- DfE (2020) 'Laptops, tablets and 4G wireless routers provided during coronavirus (COVID-19)'
- Good Practice click here

2. Contingency planning

- The school will open to all pupils at the start of the Autumn term, in line with national and local guidance.
- The school will work closely with the LA to ensure the premises is 'COVID-secure', and will complete all necessary risk assessments – results of the opening risk assessment will be published on the school's website.
- The school will work closely with the local health protection team when entering into a local lockdown and implement the provisions set within their contingency plan.
- The school will communicate its plan for a local lockdown with parents, including whether it will remain open to vulnerable pupils and children of critical workers, or if remote working will be applicable for all.
- If there is not a local lockdown, but a single class or 'bubble' needs to self-isolate, the school will immediately implement remote learning for that group.

3. Teaching and learning

- All pupils will have access to high-quality education when remote working. This will correlate to their normal curriculum where possible.
- The school will use a range of teaching methods to cater for all different learning styles, this includes:
 - Using comprehension, quizzes and online materials.
- Teachers will ensure lessons are inclusive for all pupils and can be adapted to account for the needs of disadvantaged pupils and pupils with SEND.
- When teaching pupils who are working remotely, teachers will:
 - Set assignments so that pupils have meaningful and ambitious work each day.
 - Deliver a planned, coherent and well-sequenced curriculum which allows skills to be built incrementally.
 - Provide frequent, clear explanations of new content through high-quality curriculum resources, including through educational videos.
 - Assess progress by using questions and other suitable tasks and be clear on how regularly work will be checked.

- Adjust the pace or difficulty of what is being taught in response to questions or assessments, including, when necessary, revising material or simplifying explanations to ensure pupils' understanding.
- Plan a programme that is of equivalent length to the core teaching pupils would receive in school, ideally including daily contact with teachers.
- All provisions for remote learning will be subject to the class group's age, ability and/or any SEND.
- In exceptional circumstances, the school may reduce its curriculum offering to enable pupils to cope with the workload – the Principal and SLT will assess this need, keeping pupils' best interests in mind, and will not take the decision lightly.
- Teachers will continue to make use of formative assessments throughout the academic year, e.g. quizzes.
- The school will utilise the support available through the DfE's 'Get help with technology during coronavirus (COVID-19)' scheme.
- Under the DfE scheme, the school can order limited laptops, tablets and 4G wireless routers to support the following groups of pupils if they do not have access to a digital device or the internet through other means:
 - Pupils in Years 3 to 11
 - Clinically extremely vulnerable children across all year groups who are shielding or self-isolating in line with government advice
 - Children in all year groups who are unable to access remote education whilst attending school on a hospital site
- Before distributing devices, the school will ensure:
 - The devices are set up to access remote education.
 - Appropriate safeguarding controls and support are in place to help pupils and their families use the devices safely.

Once devices are ready for collection, the school will either arrange for them to be collected by families from school or delivered to pupils' homes, ensuring infection control measures are adhered to as part of this process.

4. Returning to school

- The Principal will work with the CSEL and Academy Committee to ensure pupils only return to school when it is safe for them to do so.
- After a period of self-isolation, or the lessening of local lockdown rules, the Principal will inform parents when their child will return to school and all the robust arrangements in place to make a successful transition.
- The Principal will listen to all concerns that parents may have about their child returning to school and will advise them of the measures in place to ensure the safety of their child.

Appendix 2 - Maths Support

NCETM and Maths Hubs Covid recovery resources now available

Materials to support teachers and schools planning and delivering Covid recovery maths teaching at both primary and secondary level are available from the NCETM. All are accessible from the dedicated Covid support page on the new NCETM website. For primary schools and teachers, there are resources linked to the DfE guidance published in July this year. These include ready-to-use training materials, a short video, and a suite of 79 PowerPoints focusing on the ready-to-progress criteria found in the new DfE guidance. The latter would be ideal for schools to use as part of the National Tutoring Programme or for any dedicated catch-up tutoring. The 180 primary video lessons produced during lockdown are also still available. Each lesson has an accompanying teacher guide, and PowerPoint of the lesson for teachers to adapt themselves.

For secondary schools, an evidence-based guidance document to support discussions about recovery curriculum content and pedagogy has been produced, along with a one-hour training session and accompanying materials to help KS3 teachers and maths departments understand the implications for Year 7 of the DfE primary guidance. More materials, including guidance videos and departmental training sessions, will be added soon.

For any schools and teachers wanting to get involved with the work of their local Maths Hub this year to support Covid recovery, Work Groups are still recruiting for projects running in 2020/21.

Appendix 5 - Remote education expectations (Updated 30.12.20)

Temporary continuity direction

Where a class, group or a small number of pupils need to self-isolate, or local restrictions require pupils to remain at home, we expect schools to have the capacity to offer immediate remote education. All pupils not physically unwell with coronavirus (COVID-19) but who are at home as a result of coronavirus (COVID-19) should have access to remote education by the next school day. Schools are expected to consider how to continue to improve the quality of their existing curriculum, for example through technology, and have a strong offer in place for remote education provision.

DfE understands that, thanks to the dedication of teachers and school leaders, the vast majority of schools are already delivering remote education when it is needed and continually improving their provision in line with expectations and emerging best practice. Schools should be aware that any DfE and Ofsted engagement concerning remote provision will always take into account the circumstances of the school and its pupils, including staff absences related to coronavirus (COVID-19).

Note that the expectations set out in this guidance are for schools rather than for individual teachers.

In developing their remote education, we expect schools to:

- teach a planned and well-sequenced curriculum so that knowledge and skills are built incrementally, with a good level of clarity about what is intended to be taught and practised in each subject
- use a curriculum sequence that allows access to high-quality online and offline resources and teaching videos and that is linked to the school's curriculum expectations
- give access to high quality remote education resources
- select the online tools that will be consistently used across the school in order to allow interaction, assessment and feedback and make sure staff are trained in their use
- provide printed resources, such as textbooks and workbooks, for pupils who do not have suitable online access
- recognise that younger pupils and some pupils with SEND may not be able to access remote education without adult support and so schools should work with families to deliver a broad and ambitious curriculum - for pupils with SEND, their teachers are best placed to know how to meet their needs
- publish information for pupils, parents and carers about their remote education provision on their website by 25 January 2021 – an optional template is available to support schools with this expectation

When teaching pupils remotely, we expect schools to:

- set assignments so that pupils have meaningful and ambitious work each day in a number of different subjects
- set work that is of equivalent length to the core teaching pupils would receive in school, and as a minimum:
 - primary: 3 hours a day, on average, across the school cohort
 - secondary: 4 hours a day, with more for pupils working towards formal qualifications this year
- provide frequent, clear explanations of new content, delivered by a teacher or through high-quality curriculum resources or videos
- have systems for checking, at least weekly, whether pupils are engaging with their work, and inform parents immediately where engagement is a concern

- gauge how well pupils are progressing through the curriculum using questions and other suitable tasks, and provide feedback, at least weekly, using digitally facilitated or whole-class feedback where appropriate
- enable teachers to adjust the pace or difficulty of what is being taught in response to questions or assessments, including, where necessary, revising material or simplifying explanations to ensure pupils' understanding

We expect schools to consider these expectations in relation to the pupils' age, stage of development or special educational needs, for example where this would place significant demands on parents' help or support. We expect schools to avoid an over-reliance on long-term projects or internet research activities.

We have now published a temporary continuity direction which makes it clear that schools have a duty to provide remote education for state-funded, school-age children unable to attend school due to coronavirus (COVID-19). This came into effect from 22 October 2020. The direction poses no additional expectations on the quality of remote education expected of schools beyond those set out in this guidance.

Schools can find help and support in the remote education good practice guide and school-led webinars.

Special educational needs

For pupils with SEND, their teachers are best-placed to know how the pupil's needs can be most effectively met to ensure they continue to make progress even if they are not able to be in school due to self-isolating. The requirement for schools to use their best endeavours to secure the special educational provision called for by the pupils' special educational needs remains in place.

Schools should work collaboratively with families, putting in place reasonable adjustments as necessary, so that pupils with SEND can successfully access remote education alongside their peers.

Where a pupil has provision specified within their EHC plan, it remains the duty of the local authority and any health bodies to secure or arrange the delivery of this in the setting that the plan names. However, there may be times when it becomes very difficult to do so, for example, if they are self-isolating. In this situation, decisions on how provision can be delivered should be informed by relevant considerations including, for example, the types of services that the pupil can access remotely, for example, online teaching and remote sessions with different types of therapists. These decisions should be considered on a case by case basis, avoiding a one size fits all approach.

Vulnerable children

Where individuals who are self-isolating are within our definition of vulnerable, it is important that schools put systems in place to keep in contact with them.

When a vulnerable child is asked to self-isolate, schools should notify their social worker (if they have one). School leaders should then agree with the social worker the best way to maintain contact and offer support to the vulnerable child or young person.

Schools should also have in place procedures to check if a vulnerable child is able to access remote education support, to support them to access it (as far as possible) and to regularly check if they are doing so.

Delivering remote education safely

Keeping children safe online is essential. The statutory guidance keeping children safe in education provides schools and colleges with information on what they should be doing to protect their pupils online.

Support on delivering online remote education safely is available from:

- safe remote learning, published by SWGfL
- online safety and safeguarding, published by LGfL, which covers safe remote learning

- the National Cyber Security Centre, which includes which video conference service is right for you and using video conferencing services securely
- safeguarding and remote education during coronavirus \(COVID-19\)
- annex C of keeping children safe in education
- Remote education support

Read how you can get help with remote education for links to a range of support for schools.

This support has been co-designed with schools and will include a range of school-led webinars and resources intended to share good practice. This is in addition to the video lessons offered by the sector-led Oak National Academy and other providers of quality education resources.

Available support includes peer-to-peer advice and training through the EdTech Demonstrator programme, as well as guidance on how schools can order devices and get help with technology for remote education.
